EACD
European Academy of Craniomandibular Disorders

Closed Meeting

Bordeaux
September 19-20-21 2003

Invitation
In September 2003, the closed meeting of the European Academy of Craniomandibular Disorders will take place in Bordeaux, France. Bordeaux is the capital of Aquitaine and moreover the world’s capital of wine. You will discover the new aspect of an 18th century old town with a wonderful riverside and historical part of the city. Bordeaux is a real jewel surrounded by famous vineyards and very nearby the ocean and Arcachon bay. All of these aspects are so attractive that all you can do is fall in love with the town.

This meeting is built around three different and complementary topics: (1) Relationships between hormones, pain and joint biology, (2) development of reeducation of the orofacial functions and (3), overview and results in 2003 of the influence of the central nervous system on peripheral pathologies. Famous national and international speakers will provide information on the relation between craniomandibular dysfunction and biology, on revalidation of orofacial functions in long-term treatment and on peripheral pathologies linked with the central nervous system, and also discuss their vision on future developments in clinical care.

These three subjects will undoubtedly encourage comments and prompt debate, consultation and confrontations of different points of view between EACD members. This is, as a matter of fact, one of the goals of the closed meetings of our Academy.

It is with great pleasure that we look forward to welcoming all members from the European countries and from elsewhere to take part in the closed meeting.
